

PROFESSIONAL AVIATION ASSOCIATES FORMS AN ALLIANCE WITH ACCESSORY OVERHAUL GROUP

Atlanta, Ga., June 16, 2011 – Professional Aviation Associates, a Greenwich AeroGroup Company, announced today it has formed an alliance with Accessory Overhaul Group, Inc. (AOG Atlanta).

With facilities in Griffin, Ga., and Phoenix, Ariz., A.O.G. Inc. is an FAA/EASA Certified Repair Station, Accessory Class I Electrical Accessories, Class II Electrical Accessories and Class III Electronic Accessories. A.O.G. specializes in aircraft component testing, overhauling and certification services including brakes and wheels, starters and generators, batteries, non-destructive testing and aircraft beacon testing and overhaul.

“Professional Aviation Associates and A.O.G. Inc. have both benefited from a strong relationship for many years, and this agreement is a natural extension of the relationship,” said President of Professional Aviation Associates Glenn MacDonald. “We are combining our sales staff and inventories with A.O.G.’s shop capabilities and mobile on-site NDT services, meaning we can now offer a more comprehensive realm of services. This venture will also provide us with the ability to continue to innovate and grow in the rotorcraft and fixed wing markets, which will benefit current and future customers worldwide.”

“We are excited about the prospects of this association,” said A.O.G.’s President Ron Byrd. “With Professional Aviation Associates’ assistance we will now be able to grow our presence in the United States and improve our reach in International markets such as Europe and South America.”

Professional Aviation Associates has sales offices in Atlanta, Ga., and London, England.
